Dear Friends,

Through your generosity, the Jewish Federation of Greater Dallas continues to meet the needs of those we serve. You came together with a group of more than 5,700 donors, including 1,225 new donors, to give us the first increase in donors since 2004. We have flourished through the extraordinary commitment of our board members and volunteers, as well as the stellar efforts of our professional staff.

Only Federation has the ability to harness the strength of the entire community to make the great work we do possible. As we take a look back at the 2012 campaign year and recognize your tremendous support, we know that we will continue to bring Jewish values to life in Dallas, Israel and around the world.

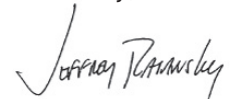

Drawing on our collective strength, we focused on several key issues:

- Engaging more supporters in shared giving, with an understanding that every donor matters, every dollar counts
- Inspiring young adults to join us in making a difference
- Building our women's philanthropy center to address the unique priorities of women philanthropists
- Investing to secure the vibrancy of our Jewish community and our future, through innovative programs and educational opportunities

This is truly an exciting time to be involved with the Federation. We are attracting a broader cross-section of "Dallasites" to help us build a vibrant Jewish future, and we are effectively addressing issues of shared concern. We cannot do this work alone. We are privileged to have such a dynamic, caring Jewish community and look forward to your continued partnership.

Thank you for your generous support. Together, we do extraordinary things.

Sincerely,

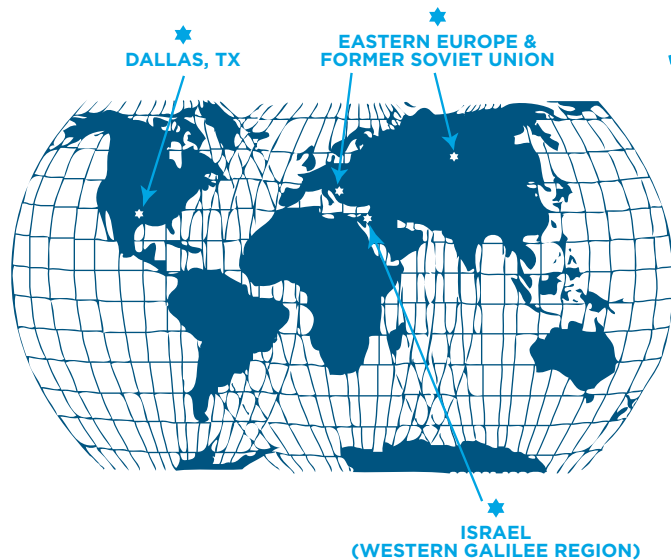

Jeffrey Rasansky

100's

Connected hundreds of Dallas young adults to their Jewish identities and Israel through Taglit-Birthright Israel trips.

Our Greater Dallas Community Benefits from Federated Giving

The Federation movement is collectively among the top charities in the world, enhancing the well-being of Jews worldwide through our core values. Through your generosity, your Jewish Federation of Greater Dallas is able to respond to urgent needs and connect our local Jewish institutions — social service agencies, schools, the JCC and more — that are the strength of our community.

Together, we impact the lives of hundreds of thousands of Jews.

CAMPAIGN

2012 Annual Campaign surpassed its $9.8 million dollar goal — reaching more than $10 million ($8.7 million unrestricted, $1.3 million restricted) — and saw its first increase in donors since 2004.

Two buses of young Texans enjoyed a free Taglit-Birthright Israel experience.

THE PACSETTER EVENT

More than $1.47 million was raised at the Pacesetter Event that also had record attendance.

the 2012 men's event

700 men raised the bar by contributing almost $1 million at the Men's Event.

The Women's Event at Night

The Women's Event drew 111 new donors (a 250% increase over 2011).

38 new Lions and 28 new Pomegranates were welcomed into our women's philanthropy giving societies.

CENTER FOR JEWISH EDUCATION

1,600+ local children, ages six months – seven years, are served by our PJ Library.

LearningFest 2012! LOL :) Love Of Learning

Jewish Federation[®] OF GREATER DALLAS | CJE
Center for Jewish Education

350+ local Jewish teachers were fortified through the Institute of Advanced Teacher Education and Yom Limud.

820+ library patrons are served, and the twice-yearly Community Reads bring together more than 500 avid readers.

Jewish Federation[®] OF GREATER DALLAS | JCRC
Jewish Community Relations Council

Honored with the prestigious Award for Program Excellence presented by The Jewish Council for Public Affairs for leadership in launching the "Anti-Poverty Coalition of Greater Dallas."

Campaign Accomplishments

Young Adult Division (YAD)

From serving on the National Young Leadership Cabinet to traveling with Federation to seeking ways to serve the community, more Young Adults than ever (ages 25–40) joined us in our work, many getting involved for the first time.

We revitalized the curriculum of the 18-month Leadership Development Group (LDG) program, recruited more than 120 young adults to travel with us on Taglit-Birthright Israel trips and to Tribefest, and created a YAD council — an energetic group who organize and implement our programs. We also garnered support to bring the Wexner Heritage program to Dallas and will train our future leaders through Jewish literacy.

Women's Philanthropy

Women have always played an important role in our Federation and in 2012 this group continued to inspire us. We now have Dallas-area leaders serving on the National Women's Board, and a committed group of volunteers working to re-imagine our women's philanthropy group for continued growth in 2012 and beyond. Sixty-six additional women gave generously to join our Lion and Pomegranate societies.

From planning and implementing many local Mitzvah projects, to traveling to Philadelphia on a mission trip, our women philanthropists showed us once again that this group leads from the heart.

We are...

Serving more people
Developing more programs
Strengthening our community

Through your generous giving.

More of you are...

Involved and invested
Volunteering to serve
Lending your expertise

To build our future.

Collectively we are...

Meeting face-to-face
Listening to our neighbors
Connecting with our agency partners

To ensure our legacy is solid.

Together we are Federation.
Together WE do extraordinary things.

Jewish Community Relations Council — JCRC

As the public affairs program department of the Jewish Federation of Greater Dallas, the JCRC brings together Jewish agencies, organizations and religious institutions to plan, coordinate and implement an effective program of positive public relations both within and between the Jewish and general communities of greater Dallas.

Award for Program Excellence

The Jewish Council for Public Affairs honored our JCRC with this prestigious award for its leadership in launching the “Anti-Poverty Coalition of Greater Dallas.” This collaborative effort, initiated by JCRC with United Way of Metropolitan Dallas and CitySquare, was the start of a community-wide coalition of 35 organizations and agencies committed to reducing poverty in Dallas.

Community Leadership

Leading the way, the JCRC convened a community-wide Security Conference for leaders of institutions and agencies with law enforcement agency representatives, promoted the city-wide Food Stamp Challenge which encouraged participants to understand the challenge of eating for one week on a food stamp allotment and led the Interfaith Hunger Seder with attendees from multiple Greater Dallas faith-based groups.

Israel and Global Awareness

Promoting the positive contributions Israel has made to world society through the Israel Beyond Conflict campaign, involving the community in the Gilad Shalit freedom campaign, and working with local interfaith counterparts to ensure that votes calling for divestment of Israel and Israel products from investment funds did not pass at national assemblies of the Methodist and Presbyterian churches, guaranteed that the JCRC kept the Dallas-area community aware of our global impact.

INTERFAITH

Center for Jewish Education — CJE

The Center for Jewish Education serves on behalf of the Jewish Federation of Greater Dallas as the resource to facilitate and convene the Jewish community on issues pertaining to Jewish education, to enrich existing programs and serve as a catalyst for new initiatives.

Community Engagement

Thousands of our Jewish neighbors are enriched daily by the CJE, which offers free educational resources such as the Tycher Library, serving patrons with books, DVDs, video conferencing, book clubs and summer reading programs. In addition, the Youth Tzedakah Foundation and One Happy Camper bring our future leaders together to claim their Jewish identity and embody our core values.

ENGAGE

Jewish Educators Strengthened

More than 350 educators participated in learning opportunities through ongoing workshops from the Institute of Advanced Teacher Education, as well as Yom Limud, a full-day seminar series devoted to fortifying our Jewish teachers.

ENRICH

New Programs Initiated

Collaborating with the community, the CJE launched several new initiatives with great success. More than 1,600 children now receive free, high-quality Jewish books each month as members of the PJ Library. In addition, their families build relationships in the community by attending PJ-sponsored events.

LearningFest, a week of Jewish learning that was accessible to all regardless of affiliation, provided opportunities for 1,400+ participants to sample the rich educational resources available in Dallas.

MyJewishDallas.org serves as a gateway for all in the North Texas Jewish community to locate social, educational and cultural events. More than 50 local synagogues, temples, Jewish organizations and institutions have partnered on this web-based initiative.

Israel and Overseas

The Israel and Overseas team connects our Greater Dallas community with the land, people and spirit of Israel, as well as to all Jews globally through education, travel, support of at-risk youth, entrepreneurship and missions and travel services for affinity groups like medical professionals, artists, teachers and others.

Unite Dallas and the Western Galilee

Through Partnership 2Gether, we continue to transform the fundraiser/beneficiary relationship Americans traditionally hold with Israelis into a partnership of peers. In 2012, 200 individuals from Dallas visited the Western Galilee; in addition, three young men from Western Galilee visited Dallas, interacting with area leaders and youth. As the people of the Western Galilee work toward economic and cultural development, they do so with our help. Medical personnel were key to our efforts, through the Dream Doctors Project and the Emergency Response Group (ERG). The Dream Doctors Project now operates in 20 hospitals across Israel; our funds raised directly support Medical Clowns in the Western Galilee Hospital. Alongside the Jewish Agency for Israel (JAFI), we supported the ERG, exposing healthcare professionals and administrators to Israeli emergency preparedness procedures through five days of training in Israel, where they gained valuable emergency response skills.

Bridge the U.S. and Israel through Mission Trips

Federation missions are more than mere travel experiences — we explore the past, present and future of the Jewish people in locations as diverse as Israel, Poland, South America and the Former Soviet Union. Each mission is unique with its sense of purpose, guaranteeing our travelers a heightened connection to their Jewish identity. We explored local communities, witnessed firsthand the extraordinary efforts of organizations like the Joint Distribution Committee (JDC) and JAFI, were inspired by the impact Jews have on the world, and by the role every Jew has to support the continuation of the Jewish people. Our mission participants get an insider's look at how Federation unites and cares for Jews everywhere.

Bring together Israelis in Dallas

In Dallas, Israeli transplants are brought together through an outreach program, Café Israel. Our goal is to bring Israelis in Dallas closer to our Jewish community through events, programs and social activities. This includes Israeli films, a coffee house, and provocative programming on the latest concerns around Israel. Everyone is invited to join us in welcoming these new Texans.
